TELEPHONE CALL FROM THE PRESIDENT

In a briefing the attitude of the Soviets in proposing the meeting of 28 on the German question came up - what are the answers we make that are not particularly negative. Why would not this be a good line - this just passed through his mind. Who is interested? Here are the Germans. What do they think? In other words we follow along if they want to talk on this kind of a program which we think they would be more solid in opposing. ~~xxxxxx~~ Why don't we put some of these burdens on the people it affects instead of letting some of them think we are an Alexander or a Napoleon setting up the geography of Europe.
